COLUMBIA, KENTUCKY, WEDNESDAY July 14 1920.

NUMBER 38.

OIL NEWS.

[BY E. T. KEMPER.]

A goodly number of operators and others interested in the oil business generally have been visiting in our midst during the past few days, and they have all expressed themselves as being well pleased with the outlook for production in this territory.

Drilling operations at the Cavanaugh well, Zion's Church, are temporarily suspended awaiting the arrival of a new drilling rope, the one which has been in use there being out of commission. The well is now down some 500 feet and the intention is to go as much as 300 feet additional unless a good flow of oil is found before reaching that depth. Upon completion of the well now drilling the rig will be moved to a location just outside Columbia where the next well will be drilled.

Mr. W. W. Strain, a special representative of the Wiser Oil Company, Sistersville, West Va., has been in this section during the past week for the purpose of securing any possible data on general oil conditions in this field, and before leaving he gave out the information that he found existing conditions very promising for the early opening up of some good production.

Mr. W. C. Leonard, who is drilling for the Kenvir Oil Company on West Fork, near Breeding, is reported down about 100 feet and with good prospects for a profitable strike there in the near future.

Mr. G. A. Roy, president of the Roy Petroleum Company, and Mr. E. F. Steinman, Cincinnati, another official of the Company, are here to meet Mr. Lucien Beckner, Winchester, Ky., noted oil geologist, who is coming to solve the problem of getting rid of the salt water on Damron's Creek, where the Roy people have had so much trouble recently drilling.

Mr. J. E. Carnahan, Canton, O., head of the Carnahan Oil Co., has been here since my last report for the purpose of getting a line on the local situation, and while in this section he visited the Creelsboro field where the Company has four completed wells, and where they expect to do additional drilling at an early date. Mr. Whitis, the field manager for the Company tells me he has made a location for their next drilling there on the old Jackman farm near where a good well was drilled some twelve or fifteen years ago, and which gave promise of being a good producer, but like many others drilled then, was abandoned on account of the low price of crude oil and the lack of transportation facilities.

Dr. J. W. Goggin, vice president and general manager of the Beacon Oil Syndicate, Chicago, and who has large holdings in the McMeed Oil Syndicate, Chicago, and who has large holdings in the McMeed Oil Company, was here last week in company with some prominent oil men, who had been spending several days in the Creelsboro field inspecting the properties of the McMeed Company. They seemed to have been well satisfied with what they saw and they are expected to return soon.

Dr. J. Watts Stovall, a prominent operator and capitalist from Grayson, Ky., was an interested visitor to this section during the past week, and he was so well satisfied with the outlook generally that it will not be long until he is among us again, and we look for him to become interested in a substantial manner in this territory at an early date.

The Chautauqua.

White & Myers Company started their chautauqua here last Friday afternoon and it will continue through today, Wednesday. It has been unusually well attended and the closest attention has been paid.

The "World in Turmoil" by Morris Gershon Hindus, an educated Russian, on Saturday night, was a graphic description of the condition of the Russian peasants, their manner of living and the hardships they are enduring. He spoke in glowing terms of Woodrow Wilson and the League of Nations, and was particularly severe on Clemenceau, blaming him for much of the world's disturbance at this time.

The lecture delivered by Dr. H. V. Adams Sunday afternoon his subject being "Grapes of Gold," was well worth the price of a season ticket. It abounded in truths, and in our judgment if his advice is followed many aches and pains will disappear. The doctor is a scholarly gentleman, using the purest of English. It is gratifying to state that the guarantees have been made safe by the patronage of the good people of Adair and the town of Columbia.

Banks Give Notice.

In order to give better service to the public and to conform to the rule adopted by banks throughout the country, for the purpose of giving said service, we have agreed to fixing the hours for opening and closing of business each day, at 8:30 o'clock A. M. and 3:30 o'clock P. M. respectively, to begin July 25, 1920.

We are compelled to take this step not so much in the interest of ourselves as in the interest of our customers and the public generally. Our books must be audited, mail answered, and many important matters of banking looked after, which requires much time and undivided attention.

We respectfully ask the public to consider this matter from the standpoint of efficient service and to transact its banking business between the hours above indicated.

Farm Wanted.

Wanted, to hear from owner of farm or good land for sale. Send price and description. Fall delivery. L. Jones, Box 551, Olney Ill.

Prof. J. W. Ireland, of Frankfort, who conducted the Institute, proved to the teachers of Adair county that he is a very superior instructor. He advanced many ideas that will be of lasting benefit to the pedagogues. He is highly educated and speaks with force. He has been in school work for a number of years, and at present he is Superintendent of the City Schools of Frankfort. Our county Superintendent made no mistake in securing his services.

John Wood, of Hiseville, Barren county, and Lewis Wright, a boy, at Lecta, same county, were killed by lightning Monday night week while a storm was raging.

Twenty-five indictments were returned at this term of court. They were all for minor offenses.

Resolutions.

We, the teachers of Adair Co., appreciating the advances that have been made in recent years in education, in salaries and in equipment especially, and realizing the tremendous responsibilities that rest upon us as teachers and hoping in a better way than ever before to meet these responsibilities, resolve the following:

First, we heartily endorse the laws passed by the legislature in regard to attendance and physical education and earnestly solicit the influence of all good citizens in assisting us to execute them.

Second, We approve the laws requiring high school and professional training for teachers and pledge ourselves to make all reasonable efforts to meet the requirements.

Third, We favor State Equalization of salaries and therefore, favor an amendment, the recommendation of the State legislature to set aside a fund to supplement the salaries of teachers in counties in which the funds are not sufficient to meet the minimum salary.

Fourth, We shall use our influence in helping to elect an impartial Board of Education.

Fifth, We endorse the course of Study prepared by the State and urge its use in all our schools.

Sixth, We realize the need for more attractive school houses and play grounds and urge the cooperation of pupils and patrons in securing them.

Seventh, We wish to express our appreciation to Supt. Loy for the desks and chairs purchased for the schools.

Eighth, We express to Miss Huffaker, our very great appreciation for her services at the piano. To Revs. Murrell, Williams and Smith for conducting our opening exercises, to Prof. G. Graves for the inspiring address to the Institute and to all the visitors who took part in the program.

Ninth, because of our appreciation for the very efficient services of Prof. Ireland and his courteous manners during this Institute, we request his return next year.

Tenth, that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the Adair County News, The Columbia-Republican.

Residence for Sale.

I desire to sell my residence, on Greensburg street. It is in fair condition and contains seven rooms. Splendid garden, and a supply of wood and coal which can be included in the sale.

J. N. Page, Columbia Ky.

Mr. S. E. Shively, who was recently in Chicago, Ill., in the interest of the Panama Coal Company, an organization that a number of Adair county people have stock in, succeeded in bringing about the election of a new board of directors, as the management of the old board was not satisfactory. Mr. Shively was chosen President of the new board, and he is now in Manchester in the interest of the company.

Mr. W. S. Knight, of Jamestown, came to Columbia last Thursday to have a growth on his right hand examined. He called at the office of Dr. W. J. Flowers, who decided to remove it. It was successfully done, and in a short time the wound will be healed and Mr. Knight will have good use of his hand.

J. F. Neat Acquitted.

The trial of John F. Neat, charged with maliciously shooting and wounding Lucien Brockman with intent to kill, was called last Wednesday just before the noon hour, both sides answering ready. The defendant was represented by Jones & Garnett and Gordon Montgomery, the State by A.

A. Huddleston and W. A. Coffey.

There were quite a number of witnesses on both sides, and the case was not concluded until 4 o'clock, p. m., Thursday when the jury, after being out an hour and a half returned a verdict of not guilty. It is our information that on the first ballot eleven of the jurors voted for an acquittal. In a short time the twelfth man went with the majority.

The case was argued for the defense by Mr. Gordon Montgomery and for the State by Mr. A. A. Huddleston.

The verdict was not a surprise, as the general opinion upon the outside was, that Mr. Neat would be acquitted.

An oversight caused us to fail to mention the picnic which was given to pupils and teachers of the Columbia Baptist Sunday-school and the Zion pupils and teachers, at Zion, Friday of last week. It was a very delightful day to the children and very much enjoyed by the older members. There was an abundance of everything good for the palate, and the auto ride to and from the grounds was delightful.

Sam Burdette sold twenty-six mules at public outcry here, Monday, the first day of circuit court. They brought $35.00 to $200 per head. They were yearlings and two years olds.

Rev. Hart will preach at the Presbyterian church next Sunday forenoon and evening. The people of Columbia are cordially invited.

Sunday School Picnic.

On Saturday afternoon, July 3rd, from three to six o'clock, Miss Julia Moore and Mrs. Henry Moore entertained their Sunday School classes at their home, Cane Valley. The children were carried to the home by Mrs. Joe Callison in her car. Games were played and contests entered into in which Margaret Cundiff won the prize in a Scriptural contest and Rachel Judd in a hunting contest. Refreshments were served, consisting of pink cream and cakes.

Those present were Elsie Judd, Beldia Judd, Elizabeth McAllister, Willie Hancock, Margaret Cundiff, Virginia Page, Della Burton and Margaret Stansbury.

Wilson Bridgwater Dead.

Last Wednesday morning Mr. Wilson Bridgwater, who was born and reared near Cane Valley, this county, died at his home in Louisville. It will be remembered that he had been in wretched health for some months, and two weeks ago he attempted to end his existence by using a razor, from wound he inflicted he did not recover, though every effort was made to restore him. For a number of years he had been a Pullman car conductor. He possessed a genial disposition and had many friends. His father was P. H. Bridgwater, who was well-known in Adair county.

His wife, who died eight or ten years ago, was a Miss Collins, of New Market. The remains were conveyed from Louisville to Lebanon where the funeral and burial took place on Thursday.

Lost.

Miss Frances Garnett, daughter of Gen. and Mrs. James Garnett, of Louisville, recently was acclaimed athletic champion of the Sargent School at Boston. Miss Garnett is a former student of Kentucky College for Women, graduating in 1916. She has been attending the Sargent School for the past two years and it was in annual field meet there that she carried off the honors in competition with over four hundred girls. Since receiving her diploma from the Boston School, she has been offered several lucrative positions to teach physical culture. She is an Adair county product, born and partly reared in Columbia.

Mrs. C. L. Gore, who was a Miss Chearning before her marriage, now living near Hopkinsville, was operated on a few days ago for appendicitis. She is a granddaughter of Mr. B. F. Chearning, this place, with whom Mr. A. S. Chearning makes his home. The operation was a success and relatives here are informed that the patient is doing well.

Protracted Meeting.

A series of meetings will start at the Methodist Church, this place, on Sunday, September 5, and will continue until the 19th of the month. The pastor, Rev. R. V. Bennett, will be assisted by General Evangelist May, of the Southern branch of the Methodist Church, who resides in Alabama. He has the reputation of being very successful in evangelistic meetings, being a very able divine.

The Christian people of Columbia should keep this meeting in their minds and pray for a wonderful outpouring of the spirit of God. Members of all churches are expected to attend and lend their assistance in making this coming meeting a great success. A blessing that will be good for the Methodist, will be good for all other denominations.

Sad Death at Lebanon.

On Saturday, July 3, 1920, Mrs. Frances Howell Vaughan, wife of J. T. Vaughan, died at her late home, Vaughan Hotel, Lebanon, Ky. She was forty-eight years old, and was born and reared in Greensburg. She was the oldest daughter of Judge W. G. Howell and wife and was a very intelligent lady, being a great reader.

She took much interest in the commercial and political affairs of this nation, and in politics she was an ardent Democrat. In conversation, she was entertaining; in religion she was a devout Presbyterian. For some years she and her husband have conducted the Vaughan Hotel, Lebanon. Her remains were conveyed to her old home, Greensburg, where the funeral and burial took place on Monday following her death. Many attended the last sad rites. The News extends its condolence to the bereaved husband, father and mother, brother and sisters.

LOST.

A silk umbrella, brownish handle which is in the shape of the letter L, the handle mounted with gold. The finder will be liberally rewarded if returned to Mrs. W. W. Jones.

Hip Broken.

Last Monday afternoon week, Mr. Geo. J. Hurt, of this county, who now lives at the Soldiers' Home, Dayton, Ohio, but who was visiting in this section, was returning from Russell Springs, in a wagon. Not far from Columbia the wagon was upset and Mr. Hurt's left hip was broken. Dr. W. J. Flowers was called to the scene and he had the afflicted man brought to the Jeffries Hotel, this place, and a little later he was conveyed to Elizabeth Hospital, Lebanon. He is perhaps seventy-six years old, but it is believed with care he will recover. Mr. Hurt is well-known in Adair county, and he has the sympathy of many friends.

The Cat And The Bird.

A short time ago a male and a female bird mated and built their nest in the forks of a tree. In time there were some little birds, just out of their shells.

In an incautious moment the female bird became food for a cat, and the little birds were left motherless, with only the father bird to feed them and mother them through the perils of infancy.

It is so with the human species there are too many cats to prey upon the mothers of the race. It is destroying the best of humanity, weakening the race of the future.

Sometimes the cat is in the form of a thoughtless or cruel husband, driving his wife beyond the powers of endurance during her weakened state, sapping her vitality, wrecking her constitution, sending her to an early grave, and leaving the little ones to the indifferent care of a home without a mother.

Again it is ambition, the desire to excel socially, the insane longing for excitement, or an unwillingness to motherhood.

A child nursed in the cradle of difference becomes in itself an alien to the instinct of her petuity.

But poverty is the most relentless of all destroyers. Its claws are sharp and its teeth vicious. The underfed mother can not properly nourish a child, and to be undernourished in infancy is to be undeveloped in mind and body, lacking in intellect and drawn necessary to cope with the difficult problems of life.

If a valuable prize mare is in foal she receives every care, and so does the colt until after it passes the danger line. But it is so with every wife who is about to become a mother, or with every child that is brought into the world.

The story of the mother bird and the cat is worthy of serious thought, for the lesson it teaches is vital import to the future of humanity.

There are too many cats abroad, ready to devour the mother of man.

The Goodyear Tires.

Recognizing the extension of library service among industrial workers as a contributing factor in allaying social and industrial unrest, the American Library Association of New York has just announced plans for an intensive campaign to encourage library facilities in all large manufacturing plants for an intensive campaign to encourage library facilities in all large manufacturing plants. Particular stress is to be placed upon the introduction of books dealing with social and industrial problems, in an effort to broaden the factory worker's outlook industrial world, and also to bring about a proper attitude toward existing economic and political conditions.

Many large industrial concerns already have such library facilities, principal among them The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company, which maintains two large libraries for the use of its 30,000 employees.

The Goodyear factory library contains over 1,600 books and 3,000 catalogues in addition to over eighty current periodicals. Its collections cover the fields of aeromantics, labor, mechanics, chemistry and rubber, in so far as these relate to the company's products, and all information is filed so as to be readily accessible. All current technical periodicals are listed to employees who need them. While newspaper clippings are collected and filed so as to supply information on any subject that may come up in the conduct of the rubber industry.

The general office library contains over 500 books and 275 current periodicals, while the girls' recreational department maintains a fiction library of 300 volumes and twenty special girls magazines.

Hundreds of ambitious Goodyearites, anxious to read and study and get ahead, weekly avail themselves of the library privileges. Business and factory courses are particularly popular. That the libraries are proving especially beneficial in affording industrial workers a broader outlook of the present day's economic and political conditions, has been shown by the unusual participation of Goodyear employees in all civic betterment movements in Akron. Calls it A "Dud."

The Frankfort State Journal calls the Republican platform a "dud", a word borrowed from the lingo of aviators, and says it does nothing but dodge.

To call the Chicago-platform the declaration of a great party's principles would be an insult to every American of average intelligence, regardless of party," says the Cincinnati post.

"It is a politician's platform, and so far as party attributes toward pressing national needs and issues is concerned, the weakest promulgation ever put forth by a Republican convention."

In Kentucky, the general belief in the press seems to be that the platform signally fails to offer anything constructive. These views are voiced by the Louisville Post and the Lexington Herald. The State Journal, continuing its attack on the platform, says of the Democrats' chances: "If they can not meet it with a better platform we will be as much surprised as distressed."

Says the New York Times:

"Only one thing really mattered in the Republican platform this year. It was the plain dealing with the Treaty and the League of Nations. The other planks might be excellent, mediocre, or non-committal, or positively bad, and the country would not greatly care.

GOV. MORROW WRITES

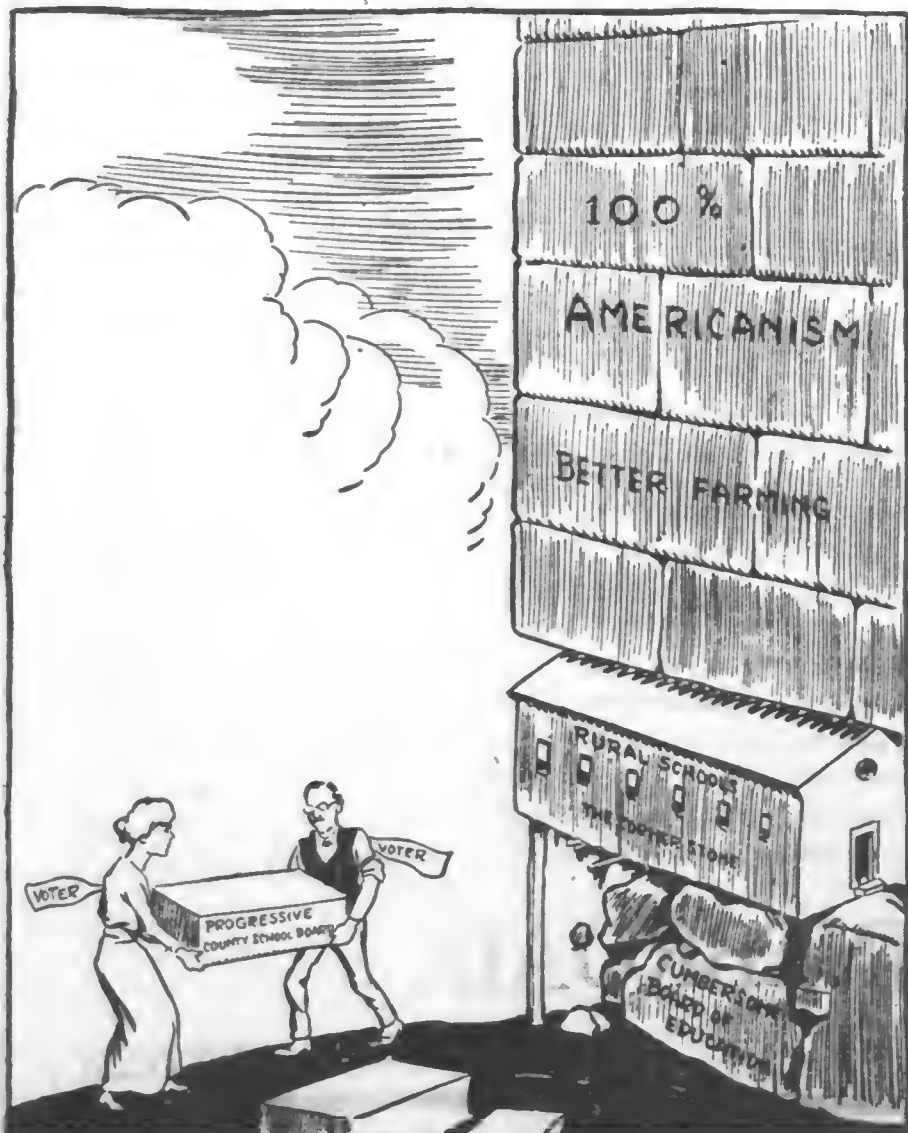

EDWIN P. MORROW

The crisis in our schools is nothing short of a national menace. Universal education is fundamental in a democracy. In the days of kings, if the sovereign had wisdom, the government was safe; but with us, the people are sovereign, what they think determines every issue of whatever nature. Unless they be well-trained, and well-instructed, and well-informed; unless they know how to value and to appreciate American institutions and American ideals, democracy will have difficulty in enduring. The defenses of our Commonwealth, the defenses of our nation are not material, but mental and spiritual. Our first lines of defense are our public schools. Our fortifications and our soldiery can repel an invasion of armies from our shores; our greater menace, an invasion of ideas, can be repelled alone in the school room. The form of reconstruction, of which our people are in most serious need, is a reconstruction of their thoughts and of their ideals.

Kentucky is experiencing a wonderful educational revival. We have come to understand that our schools must be preserved and improved at whatever cost. The opportunities of the child living in the country must be made equal to the opportunities of the child living in the city; all the children of all the people in all the state must be given an equal chance. The teachers, whose unselfish devotion to duty has caused them to remain loyal to their task even at personal sacrifice, must be given adequate compensation. Better paid teachers will mean better prepared teachers; better prepared teachers will mean better taught children; better taught children will mean better citizenship. Our last General Assembly gave us a constructive and comprehensive program of school legislation. But laws do not enforce themselves; they are but lifeless things until public sentiment has breathed into their nostrils the breath of life. In the name of Kentucky's childhood, Kentucky's surest hope; in the name of patriotism, whose shrine is the public school, I urge the people of our Commonwealth to a generous support of, and a genuine interest in, our public schools. Education is an investment; Kentucky's greatest tax is ignorance.

Edwin P. Morrow
Governor of Kentucky

MAKE THE FOUNDATION SECURE

ELECT STRONG COUNTY BOARD

Thinking and Patriotic People In Each County Are Urged To Act

Problem of the Rural School Will Be Well on Its Way Toward Solution When Interest in School Matters Is Manifest.

The editor realizes the crisis in educational matters which Kentucky and the whole country is facing, so he has been giving the readers of this paper a series of articles, statements and cartoons to help put Kentucky on the educational map. The reader recalls, of course, that the last legislature passed some strong new school laws; but with the multiplicity of new laws on the statute books, he or she is quite apt to have a rather hazy idea of the law creating the new County Boards of Education to be elected next November. As the act creating these County Board of Education is too long to be printed in full, the editor is giving an outline of it below.

The new County Board of Education is to be composed of five members elected from the county at large. The candidates for this office are secured by fifty voters signing a petition to have each name placed on the ballot. Any number of candidates may be placed on this separate ballot which shall carry no party emblem or device, save the words "School Ticket." The five candidates receiving the largest number of votes shall become members of the County Board of Education.

This County Board of Education selects a county superintendent of schools and decides upon the salary which can not, under the law, be less than $1,200 a year. The board will also appoint in each school district a trustee who shall look after the school property; but shall have no voice in the County Board.

This same County Board of Education shall fix the rate of taxation for school purposes in the county; but before doing so shall, with the help of the county superintendent, make an itemized and detailed budget of all school expenses.

This act, also, provides that the County Board of Education shall appoint at least one attendance officer whose duties shall be to compel the regular attendance of all pupil children at school as provided by law.

It is needless for the editor to say in conclusion that this new law will do much toward taking the county schools out of politics. If the thinking and patriotic people of the whole country will interest themselves in the selection and election of a strong County Board of Education, the problem of the rural school in the county will be well on its way toward solution. The fact that the editor is giving this space to a discussion of the school problem when newsprint is both scarce and expensive and the added fact that prominent men are writing strong statements for the press urging the people to get behind their schools, means that we must make our rural schools better if we are to have a contented population in the country, and thus strengthen the nation.

EDUCATION KILLS AGITATION

Governor Alfred E. Smith of New York, has the following to say concerning the value of education:

"The best way to meet the evils of ultra-radical agitation is with the reason which proper education applies. I regard education as the best remedy for mistakes or false political conceptions."

LACK OF TEACHERS SERIOUS PROBLEM

Solution At Moment Is Selection of County Boards of Education

Every Real, Fine, True, Red-Blooded Man and Woman in Kentucky Urges to Get Busy at Once and Interest Themselves in School Matters.

Every county in Kentucky was short of rural teachers last year. Every county in Kentucky will be short teachers again this season. This is a serious proposition especially as the number of men and women passing the examinations lately held for teacher's primary certificates was quite small. Of course, the new minimum salary of $75.00 per month for rural teachers will help the situation in the future; but the best possible solution of the problem right at this moment is the selection and election of a strong County Board of Education at the November election.

The reader should not think of this problem as a strictly Kentucky affair for it is nation wide and extremely serious. Dr. P. P. Claxton, Commissioner of Education of the United States, recently asserted before the National Citizens' Conference at Washington, D. C.:

"The new conditions require that the schools shall be more efficient and more effective than they have been in the past and we are faced with the danger that they may not be as effective as in the past. We are confronted with a great shortage of teachers, and there seems to be little chance of immediate relief. According to the most careful estimates that can be secured, between three hundred and four hundred thousand children were deprived of schooling this past year because of school closed as the result of shortage."

"Even more serious is the rapidly growing number of sub-standard teachers. More than half the teachers of the nation—550,000—are not prepared on any reasonable basis for the work of teaching, a reasonable basis being understood to mean the minimum standard that progressive communities have long insisted upon—two years of professional training beyond the four-year high-school course."

"A conservative figure for the number of new teachers that will be required this fall is 110,000. It is more likely to be 120,000, and it may reach 150,000. The graduates of normal schools this year will be 25 per cent fewer than in 1918; they will total about 16,000. If we add to these the largest possible number we can conceive of from other teacher-training institutions, we shall have at the outside 30,000 prepared teachers to fill the vacancies, or a deficit of at least 80,000."

Good County Boards of Education have always been needed in each and every county in the state; but they are today a vital and absolute necessity for the welfare of the county, the state and the nation. Every real, fine, true, red-blooded man and woman in Kentucky should get busy at once and see to it that the new Boards of Education are composed of citizens who will do big and constructive work for the boys and girls on the farms.

THINK IT OVER

A letter reaching the Bureau of Education at Washington lately from an ordinary citizen contained the following pithy sentence:

"In the city they won't give people with children a house; and in the country they won't give us a school." Think it over carefully.

The Courier-Journal
Louisville

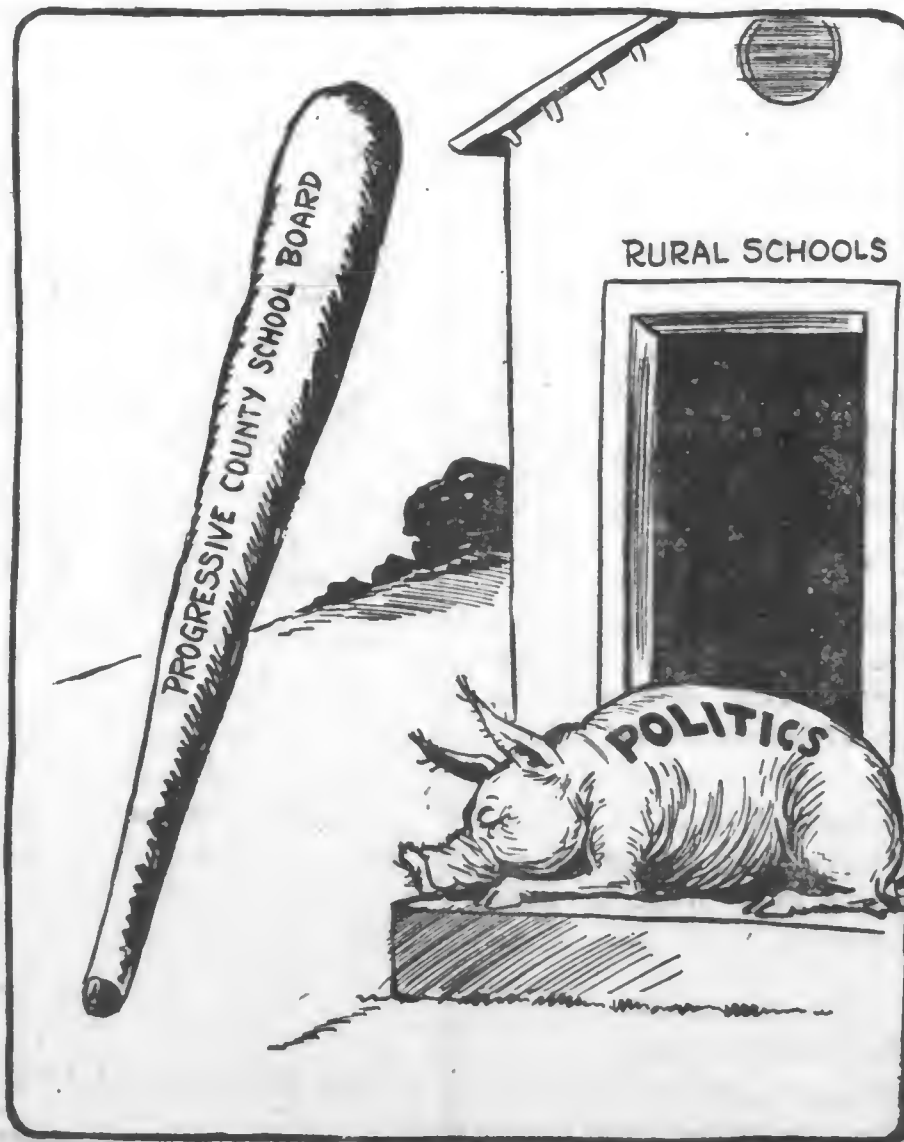

June 16, 1920.

Parties may come and go, politicians may rise and fall; but the education of the youth of the country goes on forever.

Our rural schools have in the past been too often dragged into the mire of local politics, and it is gratifying to know that both parties joined hands at the last session of the Legislature and passed laws which will go a long way toward keeping our rural schools out of the political game.

While every voter in Kentucky is interested in the Presidential election to be decided next November, there is every reason why the election of strong men to the new County Boards of Education should be a top priority. A good, clean board will select a capable Superintendent, and keep both him and the schools free from any entanglement with politics. Watterson

ANNOUNCEMENTS

FOR CONGRESS.

We are authorized to announce RALPH GILBERT, of Shelby county, a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Congress in this, the Eighth Congressional District of Kentucky. State Primary Election Saturday, August 7, 1920.

We are authorized to announce FRANK L. RIPPY, of Anderson county, a Democratic candidate for Congress, in the Eighth district, subject to the action of the State primary August 7, 1920.

FOR UNITED STATES SENATOR.

We are authorized to announce Hon. Richard P. Ernst, of Kenton county, a Republican candidate for U. S. Senator. Primary first Saturday in August.

PRESIDENTIAL TICKET.

Gov. James M. Cox, of Ohio, and Assistant Secretary of the Navy, Franklin D. Roosevelt, of New York, were nominated by the Democratic National Convention at San Francisco, for President and Vice President of the United States. It was a hard fight for first place, and at one time it looked like Governor Cox would go down and that McAdoo would receive the prize. Cox's leaders, however, would not surrender, and after votes had been switched from candidate to candidate for a week, the Ohio Governor was finally nominated amid the cheers of his valiant supporters. He received Kentucky's twenty-six votes on the last ballot, and throughout the balloting twenty of Kentucky's vote answered for him on every call.

Mr. Roosevelt was nominated by acclamation.

The convention adjourned every delegate leaving for his respective home, feeling that a ticket had been selected that would win in November.

The nominee for the Presidency has been three times elected Governor of Ohio, and is the Executive of that State at this time. He is aggressive and the announcement has been made that he will make speeches in every State in the Union.

Soon after the nomination was made messages of congratulations commenced pouring into the office of the Governor from all sections of the country. Henry Watterson, known as the greatest writer of this age, sent cheering words to Governor Cox, and gave as his opinion that he would be elected.

The candidate nominated for Vice President, has held a number of important positions, and during the war he was appointed Assistant Secretary of the Navy. He is a distant relative of the late Theodore Roosevelt, and his wife was a Miss Roosevelt, a niece of the former President of the United States. He is said to be a man of wonderful ability, possessing as much vim as his wife's late uncle.

It is useless for this paper to write more concerning the convention and candidates, as the reading people take the daily papers and are already informed as to the proceedings and have read the biographies of the candidates.

There is one thing certain that a newspaper man and a practical printer will be elected President of the United States. Both Governor Cox and Senator Harding are publishers of newspapers and both of them were taught the art of printing when they were quite young. To this day they often visit their composing rooms and spend a little time in social converse with their compositors.

James Snow and James Smith were brothers-in-law. They lived at Liberty and were partners in business, and apparently were very friendly. Smith was spending a few hours at the home of Snow. Trouble came up and Snow shot and killed Smith. Their wives were present. The cause of the killing has not been reported.

The Democratic campaign for the Presidency will start soon after Gov. Cox and Secretary Roosevelt have been officially notified of their nomination and their acceptance given to the people of the nation.

The Democratic candidate for Vice President was a second cousin of President Theodore Roosevelt.

THE DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM.

The Democratic platform adopted at the San Francisco Convention is so plain and distinct in all of its pronouncements that it is susceptible of but one construction. There is no ambiguity or straddling anywhere in it.

In contradiction with the Republican platform it stands for something. Every section in it rings clear and emphatic.

On the League of Nations it declares for the ratification of the Versailles treaty and League without reservations which would impair its essential integrity.

This is not quite as strong as the Administration wanted it, but when it is coupled with the denouncement of the Republican Senate for defeating the treaty it satisfies all those who stand for the treaty.

This section is in strong contrast with the Republican plank which was "straddly" and was so smothered with words so as to be almost incomprehensible.

The platform on labor is much more conservative than was expected and is both fair and equitable. While not denying the right to strike it puts above the right to strike, the rights of the public.

The principle fight over the platform was on the question of Prohibition and the Irish question. A big effort was made to insert a moist plank and an equally determined effort to indorse Prohibition. Both failed by an overwhelming majority on the floor of the Convention and the platform is left without any plank on the subject. This is exactly right, as the question has been settled and it should not be dragged into this campaign by either the "wets" or the "drys." An attempt to endorse the Irish Republic was overwhelmingly voted down, and the platform merely declares sympathy for Ireland.

Taken in all, it is a platform which will satisfy all reasonable Democrats and will make votes for the party. —Elizabethtown News.

APPROPRIATIONS COMPARED.

Comparing the appropriations we must go back to the Democratic appropriations during peace times, or 1916, and here with we give a comparison of the Democratic appropriations that year, the last year of peace, and the Republican appropriations for the present year:

DEMOCRATIC APPROPRIATIONS, 1916.

Military Service $164,100,000.
Postal Service $313,364,667.
Indian Service $9,771,902.
Diplomatic Service $4,061,280.
Fortification $6,060,216.
Military Academy $1,069,813.
District of Columbia $11,859,548.

REPUBLICAN APPROPRIATIONS, 1920.

Military Service $279,000,000.
Postal Service $462,574,546.
Indian Service $12,788,897.
Diplomatic Service $9,253,537.
Fortification $18,833,442.
Military Academy $2,142,212.
District of Columbia $18,305,484.

The above shows an increase of $310,827,375 for the Republican Congress in 1920 over the Democratic Congress in the last year of peace. It will be noted that this does not take into consideration any special acts or emergencies, but only the usual items of the annual appropriations.

Convicted of Manslaughter.

Bryant Shearer, charged with killing Grover Cape, on Melson's Ridge, this county, about five years ago, was tried last Friday, the jury fixing his punishment at two years in the penitentiary. Soon after the filing, Shearer left this county and became a wanderer. About four months ago the sheriff of Adair county was notified that he was in Kokomo, Ind. The authorities there were notified to make the arrest and hold him until our Sheriff, Mr. Sanders, could get there. Shearer was brought to the Adair county jail where he remained until his trial was called.

He will be conveyed to the penitentiary this week.

Always Some One

There is always some one in the world in whose heart there is a bell tolling, and through the corridors of whose soul there runs the steady and somber music of a dirge. There is always some one who is fighting down the dark loneliness as he bends over the fresh-turned sod on a new grave. Every man in some time that one. For death stands abroad in our little sphere and performs his missions of sorrow with a terrible impartiality. As along the trail of years we move, one after another of those who are dear to our hearts and necessary to our happiness prod out of the pilgrimage to be seen among us no more. The man who longest evades the end comes at last in his sunset years to discover that this is worth while lies beyond the rim of his earthly horizon. A new generation, in the fullness and strength and the glory of achievement, presses on and by time, while he lingers with memory over the dry lavender and faded rose petals of the days that have been, then the unavoidable wind of death shakes from the limb of the old generation the last leaf. So we come to the end of the chapter as a tale that is told.

ANTONIO MORENO

Antonio Moreno was a small boy when his father died. Eager to assist his mother by sharing part of the family burden he obtained a position as baker's clerk. For this service he received the princely sum of two dollars a week. Although he liked his position, this Spanish lad had dreams of making a fortune. He had seen wealthy American tourists in his native town and they awakened ambition in his breast. He resolved to save his money and go to the land of promise.

The Americans who visited Campamento were all supposed to be millionaires. Into the mind of Antonio Moreno came dreams, dreams of wealth that lay across the great ocean. He became determined to go to the United States and make a fortune.

When Antonio Moreno, at the age of fifteen, walked up the gangplank from the Gibraltar docks to an American steamship, he was in reality crossing the bridge from nonentity to fame. Aboard the boat was one of America's most distinguished actresses, Miss Helen Ware. Her attention was attracted to the handsome lad with the fiery eyes, and she became interested in him. "What do you intend to do when you reach America?" inquired Miss Ware.

"Make a fortune," promptly replied young Antonio.

Miss Ware smiled at his confidence and replied, "I think you will find both fame and fortune in the theater if you choose to become an actor."

The prophecy is now being realized. Antonio Moreno as the star of such Vitagraph serials as "The Iron Test" and "Perils of Thunder Mountain," is earning international fame and a considerable fortune. While in New York recently he signed a two-year contract with the Vitagraph Company and recently finished a serial production dealing with secret service, entitled "The Invisible Hand."

IDEAS IN FROCKS

Pannier Model Among Latest, London Writer Says.

Style Is Declared to Be Decided Departure From Slim Outline of Chemise Dress.

Among the new ideas in dress, which are now appearing, is the pannier frock, writes a London fashion correspondent in the Christian Science Monitor. It is a decided departure from the slim outline of the chemise dress, which has been our great standby for so long. Of course, we are not going to wear panniers in any literal sense of the word, but this new mode demands that we shall be draped or frilled or bunched at the hips in order to obtain the new silhouette.

Some of the stiffer silks, printed or woven with little bunches of flowers of charming old-world design, are admirably suited to express this fashion; and shot taffeta, which has been little used of late and which was in no way suitable for the long lines of the chemise dress, will again come into its own. Little killed frills and ruffles with frayed edges will take the place of fringe in the way of trimming, and this should be pleasing news, as most persons will agree that the fringe has been terribly overdone. Quite tiny fringe may still be used for edging frills, but the long shaggy kind, so strangely reminiscent of the cave-woman, which used to hang the entire length of a skirt, has gone, let us hope, forever.

A dress which showed one way of expressing the pannier style, was made of taffeta, changing from peacock blue to old gold. The top layer of the three-decker skirt flared more than the others and was bunched up at the sides. The bodice crossed over in front and fastened at one side, showing a little vest of peacock blue nylon, embroidered with a fine gold thread.

Now, it is obvious that this style of dress will not suit every one though its "bunchiness" can be reduced to a minimum. Also, it must not be imagined that the one-piece dress is going to disappear or become demode; it is far too useful and convenient a garment for that, and it can be made with just an indication of the new outline in the way of a tendency to drape slightly at the sides.

The coat and skirt of the more dressy or "dressmaker" order is being cut rather on Louis XV lines. The coats have a decided fullness over the hips, flaring over the narrow skirts, which, by the way, are not quite so narrow or quite so short as recently. The real tailor-made suits, however, pay no attention whatever to this change of outline, but continue to be built on straight and narrow lines.

RURAL SURVEY OF VITAL IMPORTANCE

Religious Statistics Are Secured From County To Be Used By Local Churches

HEARTY CO-OPERATION ASKED

Information To Be Gathered In Every Part Of The County According To Communities Will Have Large Significance

The rural survey department of the Interchurch World Movement has been organized to assemble information and analyze conditions from a religious standpoint in every county in the state, according to Arthur O. Stockbridge, Rural Survey Supervisor for the state of Kentucky, with headquarters at 102 Todd Building, Louisville, Ky.

In order for the churches of a community to carry on their work of evangelizing the territory in which they are situated and to contribute their share towards the complete evangelization of the world, which is the ideal in every Christian heart, it is necessary that the actual conditions which exist in each county be discovered. Because of the vital importance of this work, the movement is calling upon the pastors of all denominations and others who are informed relative to religious conditions to render all the assistance possible towards the completion of the work.

This information, after being tabulated by experts, is taken back to the counties, where the several Protestant denominations with churches in the county co-operatively study it and decide on the county's church needs. Recommendations are made by the county churches of each denomination that so desires, to the denominational home mission, Sunday school and other boards so that these boards can co-operate intelligently and effectively with the local county church organizations.

The Interchurch World Movement is attempting to do its work on a democratic basis. It is neither dictating nor attempting to dictate to any church or denomination what shall be done. The denominations in each county must decide unanimously among themselves on any joint county program for church betterment before it is adopted or undertaken with the co-operation of the Interchurch World Movement. The survey department is designed to help build up and meet the needs of the local churches through the local and county denominational interests.

An Interchurch World Movement survey of a county develops facts as to the county's geographical location and the general character of its agricultural, commercial and industrial life, its road system and means of intercommunication, public school system and other educational institutions, welfare and benevolent institutions, other organizations and individuals engaged in public service for the entire county.

Accompanying a general survey of a county is a more detailed survey of each community, a community being regarded as a unit of territory and population characterized by common economic and social experiences and interests.

The community survey designates the outline and location of the community on information acquired from storekeepers, bankers and other informed persons. Territory not definitely included within the limits of any trade community is considered in connection with the communities to which it is contiguous and to which it is most closely related. Thus no area is omitted in the enumeration of population and other statistical information. The survey takes account of the community's economic conditions, such as natural resources, chief sources of income, soil, climate and market conditions, relations of farmers and business men, industrial data, etc. The social life and organizations of the community are covered in detail, together with other information to throw light on the state of the social mind.

The third link in the survey chain is the survey of each church in each community. This sets out the location, denomination, minister, date of organization, descriptive data as to buildings and equipment, membership, regular and special meetings and tabulated results therefrom, statistics as to area covered by the parish, number of families reached, parish problems and other data to give a comprehensive vision of the parish, and supplemented by information as to the program of work outlined for the church by the pastor and the official boards.

The triple surveys—county, community and church—assemble all information that may be needed to aid the individual churches and denominations in working out their present problems and future programs of development, so that wasted effort may be eliminated and unproductive activities of each denomination may be transferred to productive fields.

The need of such a systematic study of church conditions is apparent by the results of investigation already made in some sections of the South, if the churches are to accomplish the greatest possible amount of good. The conditions found to exist in some quarters are rather startling. In one county in the South, for instance, there are 44 churches, of which 14 are dead and only 16 of which maintain Sunday schools.

Former President Taft puts the blame for the Peace treaty upon President Wilson, and says it is due to the President's determination "to rule or ruin"

This is nonsense. The President has made it clear that he will not accept the Lodge reservations, but he has also made clear many times (most recently in his letter on the Virginia platform) that he would accept reservations that do not undermine the meaning of the treaty. Taft, when President, sent to the Senate arbitration treaties. They were good treaties and should have been ratified. But a Senate of his own party ruined them by alterations. Did Taft accept them in their new form? He did not. He pocketed them, and they have never been heard of since. Louisville Post.

World Jail Bachelors.

Representative Bolgiano, who introduced the bill in the Legislature which would force every man in Louisiana to marry at the age of 25 or go to jail, has given notice in the House that if no standing committee of the House could be found to act favorably on his bill, he would ask that a special committee of six old maids be created, and that the bill be referred to them for favorable action. Bolgiano's bill has created a sensation all over Louisiana as it would affect men in every walk of life.

Not only was Mr. Samuel Gompers re-elected president of the American Federation of Labor, he comes out of the labor convention far stronger than when he entered it. On one or two propositions the federations the federation voted contrary to the recommendation of its veteran president, but was made sufficiently plain that in the majority of matters he is considered by American trade unions as by far their safest leader.

A big-scale road test on 3,200 tubes

puts the miles in — and then proves it—not at YOUR expense.*

No other tubes in the world are road tested on so big a scale as Firestones. The Yellow
Cab Company of Chicago uses Firestone Tubes exclusively on its 800 taxi cabs. The service of these tubes is checked constantly —improvements and developments are arrived at.

By close watching of a large number of tubes in service—not confined to isolated instances, the conclusions are accurate and definite.

Firestone puts the best in materials into tubes by establishing purchasing experts at Singapore, center of the world's rubber market. Firestone puts the best in workmanship into tubes by organizing the crack manufacturing organization of the industry on a profit-sharing basis.

And then subjects the finished product to this big-scale road test—in order to get you more for your tube money and more miles out of your tires. And yet Firestone Tubes cost no more than the ordinary kind.
